

Bring life to your landscape with native plants

Join us for a tour of our demonstration gardens TONIGHT (Thursday May 19) at 6:30 PM!

Native Plants for Hummingbirds

Hummingbirds are attracted to large clusters of flowers. Group your plantings so that they are conspicuous to the birds. They prefer areas with trees and shrubs nearby for shelter and perching.

Hummingbirds go to red, orange, or pink tubular flowers, although they eat nectar from flowers of most colors. They also eat insects, spiders, and occasionally sap from trees, especially from woodpecker holes. Minimize your use of pesticides so that insects are available. Mountain Laurel

Our state flower is borne on a slow-growing, evergreen shrub that requires shade to part shade, and acidic, cool, moist, well-drained soil. Excellent for shady borders or in masses.

If you have the right soil, you are missing out if you don't have this native beauty.

We have several selections of mountain laurel, nicely shaped, full plants for $39 each. Bull's Eye, Minuet, Tinkerbelle, Firecracker, Keepsake, and Silver Dollar are a few of the selections available. Shop early for best selection.
