

Polygonatum biflorum

Small Solomon's Seal

- 1 to 3 feet tall
- Spread 12 to 18 inches
- Part sun to shade
- Moist soil
- Greenish white, bell-shaped flowers hang from the leaf axils of arching stems in spring
- Flowers are followed by blue berries that attract birds

